

Bethel Lutheran Church in Hudson has the fortune of being within driving distance of Luther Seminary in St. Paul where some of the world's best biblical scholars teach. This February, Bethel will host a professor from Luther Seminary to come and teach a two-night class. Rev. Karoline Lewis, Ph.D. will be at Bethel on Wednesday, February 4 and 11 to teach a course called, "Wine, Water Jars and Witness: Being a Disciple According to the Gospel of John."

Tickets for the class are only $5 and you can purchase them in the office of the church at the downtown campus or online with a credit card beginning January 18th (please list "Bethel University" under the other label). Invite your friends, family, and neighbors to participate in this incredible opportunity!
