

The Turkey Shoot at the Costick Center was an event that our family thoroughly enjoyed. One obvious reason was the fact that we won three frozen turkeys during this activity, but the bigger reason is it will be a great teaching moment for our young kids.

Since we have plenty and have no need for three frozen turkeys, we plan on donating two of these to a local soup kitchen with the kids doing the honor. I would like for them to understand how fortunate they are and hopefully develop a sense of empathy for those who are less fortunate.

I plan on making this an annual activity and I can thank the Center for helping to generate this idea
